IN THE NICK OF TIME

When PI 55 Nimbalkar learnt that a young man, whose businesses were suffering losses, was trying to commit suicide in a society in Market Yard, he and his team dropped everything that they were doing and rushed to his rescue. Says Nimbalkar, "The door was bolted from within, the family was creating a ruckus, and the man wasn't listening. Using soft words and people skills, me and my team managed to get him to first open the door. Once we succeeded with that, we didn't just rush in and arrest him, but spoke to him like a doting parent would. "Avers the inspector, "it had a tremendous impact, we then took him to the police station, offered him tea, and then counselled him. With the result he was okay, we then called his relatives, who took him back. He turned around and thanked us all. It was worth all the effort." Once again Kirti proves that you don't need a sledgehammer to kill a fly.
